WILL WOMEN NURSE WOUNDED MEN?

THE Army Nurse Corps reports that 3,753 nurses are needed in Army hospitals in this country and 1,000 for service overseas.

Battle casualties are rapidly coming into the United States, many patients requiring special treatment. Since July, there has been an increase of almost three hundred per cent in the number of patients evacuated from overseas. More than 150,000 servicemen are now in Army hospitals in this country and nurses on duty are overloaded.

The reluctant admission is made that recruiting methods have failed to secure the necessary number of nurses and Representative Frances Bolton, author of the bill creating the Nurse Cadet Corps, recently warned nurses: "If you do not respond, then we on Capitol Hill will be forced to find some way, because we will have our men cared for."

The Representative has just returned from the European front, where she witnessed at first hand the terrific overload on Army nurses. Moreover, she was impressed by the wounded fighting men, requiring the best attention that the nation can provide.

After sifting all possibilities, with disappointing results, the War Manpower Commission recently classified 27,000 registered nurses as 1-A Nurse Corps material. Colonel Florence A. Blanchfield, Superintendent of the Corps, wrote letters urging them to join up, calling attention to heavy casualties and asserting that "our men are deserving of the best that American nursing can give." She received only five hundred replies and less than two hundred of the applicants could be processed for actual admission to the Corps.

The Nurse Cadet Corps, which was subsidized by Congress with the idea of filling both military and civilian nurses' needs, has not been very effective. It is reported that of 10,000 cadet nurses, graduating between January and August this year, the Army got only three hundred. Army nurse recruiters say that if half the 18,500 cadet nurses, graduating between August and the end of this year would join, the problem would be temporarily solved.

The Nurses Corps numbers 40,726, but an additional 10,000 are desired immediately. The hope is held out that cadet nurses will supply this number. . Only twenty-four per cent of the nurses graduated in 1942 went into service and so far, it seems, less than one-third of those graduated have joined up for service.

We call attention to the facts as reported from Washington, without being able to suggest the answer. Certainly, if it is the business of American men to fight for their country, it is the business of the women of the country as a whole, to see to it that wounded soldiers, sailors and marines are assured adequate nurs-

The facts-cited seem to emphasize something that is rather difficult to understand, the apparent apathy of American women in connection with the duties that war entails.

NEED BLOOD DONATIONS

THE treatment of wounded men, in the present war, is far better than that given fighters in any previous war. This is especially true of the men who fight under the American flag, because the nation has put their welfare above every other consideration.

The news comes from San Francisco that it is now possible to deliver fluid blood to Leyte Island forty-eight hours after it is drawn from a donor in that city. Moreover, the blood is seventy-five per cent efficient twenty-one days after being donated.

We have no expert knowledge as to the difference between blood plasma and fluid blood, but we understand that there are cases when a wounded man, who has lost oxygen as well as blood requires liquid blood for recovery.

In this connection, a dispatch from Paris says that the Army newspaper, Stars and Stripes, declares, "There just isn't enough blood being given by forks back home." The paper intimates that the medics have been able to store up only two pints of blood for every man in action, although they have a quota of five pints of blood.

We call attention to this matter, although it should be recognized that no serious effort has been made to secure blood donations in many areas of the nation. Evidently, donations in established centers have equalled the immediate demands of the service, but it is just possible that heavier casualties will make it necessary to call for a greater response.

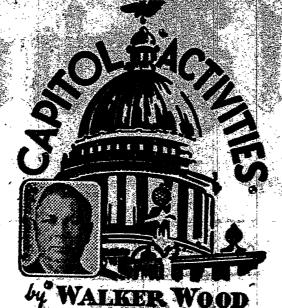

The Stars and Stripes points out, however, that blood do-nations rise "when the war news is bad and fall when it gets good," but adds that "when the war news is good is when the blood is needed, because it takes blood-lots of blood-to make it good."

WAR TASKS

THE one task of the nation is to win the war. For those on the home front there are certain duties, including the support of the cost of the struggle. The government will offer everybody an opportunity to do something about this in

The Sixth War Bond drive does not ask citizens to give anything E offers an investment that pays interest. While millions fight, the purchasers of bonds lend their money for a fair return and they deserve no great thanks for doing so.

The wealth of the nation is being defended along with its tertitory and its freedom. The greater the property an individual owns, the larger the debt to the fighting men.

ABOUT THE

S WE MOVE closer to victory, it wouldn't be surprising if you were saying to yourself-"What's the big idea of asking for all this additional money now? Isn't the war almost over?"

No sir, it is not! Not by a long shot. Of course, for many months now you've heard mostly about the war with Germany, where our greatest effort is concentrated. That's why many people have the idea that the war's practically over.

But make no mistake about it-nothing could be farther from the truth! The Japanese war is a tremendous undertaking, and victory will come high. We'll have to fight every inch of the way.

Everything Costs More in the Pacific War

The European war is expensive, but almost everything in the Pacific war will cost more. Take transport costs, for instance: Because of the longer distances, the same amount of freight costs 25 per cent more when shipped to the South Pacific than to Europe. And it takes twice as many cargo ships in the Pacific to support a task force of a given size because turn-around time is twice as great!

More Planes ... Tanks ... Ships ... Oil

In addition, we shall need more of everything. More B-29 Superfortresses that cost $600,000 each. More P-47 Thunderbolts that cost $50,000 each. More M-4 Tanks, with bulldozer blades, that cost $67,417 each. More amphibious tanks-more aircraft carriers—more supply ships—more gasoline and oil than it took for the invasion of Europe!

Care for the Sick and Wounded

And lest anyone forget, we shall need more battalion aid stations-more clearing stations-more evacuation hospitals-more convalescent hospitals-more hospital ships.

For many, many years the sick, wounded, and otherwise disabled veterans will require medical attention and care. That's the least Uncle Sam can do in appreciation of what they've done for us.

Maintenance for Millions

Did you ever stop to think how much money it costs to maintain the 11 to 12 million men and women in our army and navy? Whether the men are actually fighting or not, they must be fed, housed, transported from one training center or battle area to another, cared for in a hundred and one different ways. That all costs money and will continue to until the last man demobilized is back in civilian clothes.

In addition, millions of dollars will be required for mustering-out pay, for various benefits and services voted by Congress to help the boys get started in civilian life.

These are reasons enough why patriotic Americans will want to buy heavily during the Sixth War Loan. But here are still more

Winning the Peace—for Your Country

If we're to win the peace as well as the war, the cost of living must be kept down and the purchasing power of money preserved. A reckless inflation that would necessarily be followed by the catastrophe of deflation-with its unemployment, bankruptcies, misery and heartache-must be prevented at all cost.

Let's make no mistake—a dangerous period lies ahead. The American people have nothing to fear, however, if they show in the future the same common sense they have shown in the past, and continue to put every penny over rock-bottom expenses into the purchase of more and more War Bonds.

Winning the Peace—for Yourself

Want another important reason? Yourself! There isn't a better or safer investment in the world today than War Bonds. In helping your country, you are also helping yourself! Never in our entire history has it been so necessary to save as right now. We'll need money, individually, for education, repairs, replacements, retirement—and we'll need a lot of it.

As you can see there are many reasons, important reasons, why our Government must have the financial support of everyone, and have it for many months to come.

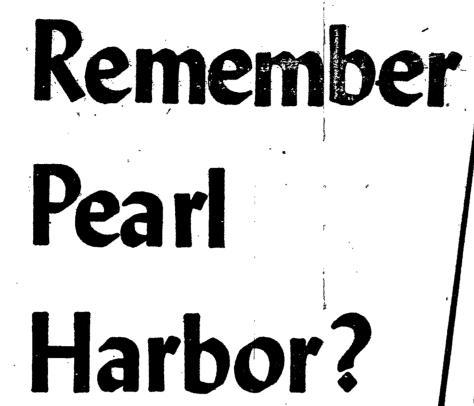

Let all Americans do their partfor their own sake, for their country

Big Business

LOT of the writing and talking that's going on these A days about "big" business seems to miss one pretty important point. In judging bigness solely by such things as number of employees, size of payrolls, or volume of sales, it overlooks the size of the job the particular business is required

After all, any business exists because there's a demand for the things it produces or the services it renders. And it must either grow to the size necessary to satisfy these demands, or else make way for a competitor that can provide what is

The war has shown that America's factories and farms can meet demands that would have been fantastic in prewar years. This is a big country; there will be as big jobs to be done in peacetime as any the war produced. It will take the right kind of "big" business to do them. And whether it operates a 100-acre farm, a garage, a bank, or an industry with 100,000 employees—this kind of big business, which serves the public satisfactorily and with integrity, will continue to be the foundation of America's strength and security, in peace as in war. OKATHE THE ELATRIC SUNDAY AND MONDAY "AN AMERICAN ROMANCE"

An M.-G.-M. Picture Starring Brian Donleyy and Ann Richards in Technicolor

When the name Ann Richards was flashed on the screen at the premiere of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's echnicolor production "An American Romance," it was merely the name of a newcomer to motion pictures; when the picture ended, a brilliant new star had been added to the Hollywood heavens.

For Ann Richards, the young Australian lass who had never before appeared in an American feature picture, gives a truly remarkable performance as the wife of the immigrant who fulfills the promise of the United States as a land of opportunity. In a cast boasting Brian Donlevy, who portrays the immigrant Steve Dangos; John Qualin, Walter Abel and Horace McNally, veteran Hollywood names all, Miss Richards reveals herself as one of the most talented young women to appear on the cinematic horizon in many years. "An American Romance," story of the rise of industrial America, long has needed telling, and M-G-M has told it in handsome Technicolor, with a sweep and grandeur worthy of subject and country. King Vidor, whose countless hits include "The Big Parade" "The Crowd" and "Northwest Passage" has produced and directed 'An American Romance" and he has turned in his outstanding success.

Newly-arrived in this country, Steve Dangos meets and falls in gether they make their way in life. Steve works in a steel mill and progresses up through the ranks. Anna bears Steve children and they grow up to bring happiness to their steel for automobiles and becomes burns when falling on a stove, while known as a production genius. Thru second the Dangos family give and fight for their country. This, and the fields and forests and mountains and lakes and rivers—this is 'An American Romance." Here is a pic- D.
